June, 2008

The British Columbia Mediator Roster Society hosted an essay writing contest on the topic Why Choose Mediation.

Peacebuilder Mediation offered to host the same contest, for South Peace Senior Secondary School. There were three winners, each of whom have received a $125 prize. The reason for selecting three winners instead of one, is that each of the submitted essays is distinct, in one case showing the personal impact of mediation, in another, the passion of mediation, or in the third, a thoughtful basis for understanding mediation. Therefore the total prize amount was increased and shared out equally.

Congratulations are in order to each of the contestants, as each paper was well thought out and carefully presented. One of them was also successful at the Provincial level, and will be honoured by the Roster Society in the fall.

The three winners are Leigh-Ann Garnett, Aleshia Sipple, and Courtney White. Their papers are linked (go through the home page). Good Reading!
